Bryan,

Thanks for your patience. We are still working to try to identify which are the final versions. We had hoped to have this completed, but the team is literally having to go through them one by one and it's not an easy process. Believe me, I want to get this done as much as you do. I am pushing to get it to you as quickly as I can.

Thanks.

Ben,

Did I miss your email or letter on this?

Thanks

Bryan,

I can assure you that we have been working hard on this but it has not been an easy task. I also agree that you are entitled to know which ones were used. We have been working on a spreadsheet that we will send you on Monday or Tuesday.

Thanks.

Ben,

Thanks for this information, and yes it is helpful. However, now that another 10 days have elapsed, can you provide a complete list of the final versions of the videos and slide decks? As I am sure you can agree, it is patently unfair for us to have to guess which were used by your client and which were not used out in the field.

Thanks,
bryan

Bryan,

Thank you for your patience while I have looked into this. In response to your inquiry, attached are the copy review indices that cover the copy review materials for the TVT products and Prosima. Except for a handful of items that we have been unable to locate (and that are clearly marked on the attachments), these materials have already been produced to you. The charts show the production numbers and bates numbers. As for your specific question as to whether all TVT and Prosima professional education slide decks have been produced, all professional education slide decks are required to go through the copy review process prior to being used. It is our understanding that all copy review related materials relating to these products were collected as part of the copy review materials collected from the client and the attached indices reflect the highest and best information from the client from the copy review files. It has been brought to our attention that, on occasion, the version of the document noted on the copy review index is not always a final version. Our investigation to match up final versions of the materials from other locations within the production an ongoing process. But these materials we believe are included in the documents already produced, and this includes professional education slide decks.

As for professional education videos, they too are required to go through the copy review process and would be listed on the attached copy review indices. For your convenience, I also have included a separate chart of the portable media productions to help you locate these. Please note that this separate list is not an exhaustive list of what exists in the production, but should prove useful to you.

Ben,

Another week has gone by. If you cannot confirm that they have been produced, we will need to go the Court. Your client cannot expect us to work up TVT cases for trial without the physician training videos. I know you personally are doing your best but your client needs to understand that if we do not get a full production timely, we are being prejudiced and will have to seek sanctions. The videos were requested ten months ago, as was the TVT registry data. There is really no excuse for the delay.

Thanks Ben,

While you're checking can you also confirm that you have produced all the of the materials involving any and all TVT registries, both foreign and domestic, and if so in what productions they are contained?

Best,
bryan

Bryan,

I've had someone gathering the information on this and should be able to let you know by the end of the day.

Thanks.

Ben

Can you please confirm all these have been produced for all tvt products as well as prosima and let us know which production they are in?

Thanks

Bryan
